Rodeck-Antrim

Saturday evening, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Rodeck, occurred the marriage of Miss Cora, to Mr. Calvin H. Antrim of Los Angeles.

The house had been prettily decorated with ferns and Shasta daisies by six of Miss Rodeck's intimate friends, Mrs. Warren French, Miss Maud Hauley and Miss Mabel Radtke of San Jose, Miss Cora Lovey of Redwood, Miss Mathilda Hayes and Miss Charlotte Davis of Campbell. A large bell of daisies hung from the center of the arch beneath which the bride couple stood during the solemn rites, and on either side were placed large baskets of the flowers.

The ceremony was said at five o'clock by Rev. J. F. Wilson, the immediate family and a few intimate friends witnessing the beautiful rites.

The bride wore a gown of white marquisette trimmed with pearl over white silk, a spray of orange blossoms in her hair and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The groom wore the conventional black.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary, sister of the bride, wore white marquisette over yellow silk and carried a bouquet of tinted carnations. The groomsmen, Mr. Frank Davis of Orosi, who had been married the evening before, was an intimate friend of the groom. A wedding dinner was served at noon.

The bride couple left that evening for Lake Tahoe for a week's honeymoon after which they will go to Los Angeles to live. Mr. Antrim has a real estate business there.

Campbell's New Packing Plant

The directors of the Campbell Farmers Union met Saturday and voted to build a large packing house. The building will be three stories high 48 by 100 feet on the ground and will be located at the Southern Pacific tracks across from the depot. The foundation walls will be of concrete 4 feet high. The main floor will be the packing room, second floor, bins and storage room and the third floor will contain the sorting machine and unsorted fruit. The walls and roof will be of galvanized iron.

P. B. Payne, President of the company, will superintend the running of the plant and he certainly understands that end of the fruit business.

Bids will be called for with in a short time and the plant will be ready for the packing season this fall.

On the completion of this packing house two new plants will have been added to the industries of Campbell.

A Few Tons of Fruit

A few selected fruit trees planted in the ground become tons of fruit. So with the few dollars you put in our bank from time to time. The rain causes your fruit to grow and the interest we pay causes your dollars to grow. Would the ablest business men in the country have a bank account if there were no advantage or convenience in it? Would they have been able to reach their present commanding position if they had spent half their time worrying about the safety of the money they had made? We invite you to open an account as they did and the advantages they found will surely come to you. When you have earned your money don't let it slip away from you; ten here, twenty there, a hundred somewhere else, soon make a thousand dollars. We offer you our bank as a safe place in which to deposit your money. We pay four percent on Savings and now is a good time of the year to start the account.

IMPROVING THE TABLE LINEN

Daintily Embroidered Initials Add to Appearance as Few Other Things Can.

Nothing so vastly improves the appearance of table linen as daintily embroidered initials in the corner. To a certain degree the fashions change each season; but a safe rule for the conservative needlewoman to follow is:

For tablecloths, letters two inches long.

For napkins, letters three-quarters of an inch long.

Sheets, two inches long.

Other articles are marked according to the taste of the embroiderer. But the best method of marking linen is a problem which presents itself very often.

There are many ways to choose besides the plain embroidered initial stamped either in script or block type. Perhaps the most attractive method of working large initials is to embroider the letters over fine net, cutting away the linen underneath, so that when finished it will give a transparent effect that is unusual and beautiful.

The work is not difficult and can be done rapidly by one who has any experience in needlecraft.

HOME-MADE VANILLA EXTRACT

Preparation Needs Care and Time, but One May Be Sure of Its Wholesomeness.

There are various recipes for making a preparation of vanilla extract or essence and some of these are too complicated to be practicable in amateur hands at home. If plenty of time can be allowed for the strength of the flavoring to be extracted from the beans the following is a simple and satisfactory recipe for a home-made preparation for home purposes: For an eight ounce bottle, take eight Tonka beans, split them in two, soak over night in two tablespoonsful of warm water, and fill up the bottle with deodorized alcohol. It takes some time for the beans to digest in the fluid, but the extract is of excellent strength. Here is another practicable recipe for a good home-made vanilla essence: Deodorized alcohol, five parts; proof spirits, three parts; sugar, one part; vanilla bean, one part. Split the beans and cut them fairly fine; mix with the sugar and bruise moderately fine, add the alcohol and spirits and macerate, or allow them to soak for two weeks, occasionally shaking. Then strain and filter.

Chicken Chateaufort.

Neatly dice or cut fine the remains of a roast chicken. Wash one cupful of rice, drop it into a kettle filled with salted boiling water and keep at a galloping boil until the grains are tender, then drain. Have ready a buttered mold. Line it an inch thick with rice. Season the meat and to one pint add a sauce made with one tablespoonful of butter, two of flour, three-quarters of a cupful of milk, salt, pepper and onion juice to taste, a half teaspoonful of lemon juice, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and, when taken from the fire and slightly cooled, two well beaten eggs. Pack this mixture in the center of the mold, cover with the remainder of the rice and steam for an hour; turn out carefully on a hot platter and serve with cream or tomato sauce, passing grape jelly as an accompaniment.

Aromatic Mustard.

To make this relish use six tablespoonsful of ground mustard, one tablespoonful of flour, two tablespoonsful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of cinnamon. Mix to a soft smooth thick paste, using a little vinegar—about one-quarter cupful—in which one onion has been boiled. Allow the mixture to stand some hours before using, and keep closely covered or moisten the top with a few drops of olive oil.

Soup for the Sick.

A good simple soup is made of pearl barley. Soak one cup of the barley over-night, drain and cover with three pints of boiling water. Add one tea-cupful of seeded raisins and the grated rind and juice of an orange. Set the saucepan on the back of the range and let it simmer four hours, adding a little water if it evaporates too much. Serve this with thin sandwiches.—Harper's Bazar.

Salt Pork Cooked in Batter.

This is a great favorite with French people in country districts: Dip slice of salt pork in batter made with a beaten egg, one cup of sweet milk, and flour enough to make batter as thick as used for pancakes. Fry in plenty of hot fat rendered from fat salt pork. Allow them to cook to a rich brown without burning.

Plantation Salad.

Peel and cut up fine one large cucumber, one green onion, one bunch radishes, three boiled potatoes, and shred one small head of cabbage. Mix all together and cover with good salad dressing.

A WARNING TO BOYS

Young Johnny Winters, strong and well,
Went out to celebrate the day,
A cannon cracker in his hand,
His heart attuned to fun and play!

He set the cracker up on end
And lit the fuse, as you have done;
Then as it sputtered, sparked and spat,
Young Johnny left it on the run!

Excitedly he turned about
And waited, with his chums, the noise!
"It's fizzled!" then said careless John,
"I'll take a look," he told the boys.

Above the powder stick he bent—
The air was filled with ripping sound!
The boys rushed up with awestruck eyes
To Johnny, lying on the ground!

He lay upon the cheerless sod,
His face all marred with bloody scars—
And all through life the boy must wear
The cannon cracker's awful scars!

Take warning, boys, from Johnny's fate
And do not harm your eyes or face.
Be patriotic, brave and true
But spurn the things that hurt the race!

DAY OF OLD GLORY

The Sage of Monticello

It was at Monticello that Jefferson prepared the draught of instructions for Virginia's delegation to the congress which met at Philadelphia. His activity in the cause of the colonies brought him into special disfavor with the British and it was planned to capture Jefferson at Monticello through Tarleton's raiders. Jefferson was warned that the enemy was coming to Monticello, and he sent his family away, and he himself escaped on horseback. The mansion at Monticello, thanks to Tarleton's orders, escaped serious pillage or damage. Though the house itself was not plundered or burned, the rest of Jefferson's property suffered severely at the hands of the enemy. All the stock and farm products that might be of service were carried off, the rest being wantonly destroyed.

When Jefferson resigned from the Washington cabinet in 1794 he returned to Monticello to enjoy a retirement which he intended should last many years. But this was not to be. He was elected vice-president in 1796, and in 1800 he was chosen president.

In March, 1803, Jefferson, after a nearly continuous public service of forty-four years, retired to Monticello and to private life, but he was so seriously impoverished that he was not sure of being allowed to leave Washington without arrest by his creditors, but this, fortunately, he was able to prevent. Toward the close of his life, however, he became distressingly embarrassed in his circumstances. In 1814 he sold his library to congress for $23,000, but through indorsement a note for a friend he was completely ruined, and was in danger of being compelled to surrender Monticello and seek shelter for his last days in another abode. But wealthy friends came to his assistance with a considerable sum of money.

"No cent of this," he wrote, "wrong from the taxpayer. It is the pure and unsolicited offering of love." In the last seventeen years of his life Jefferson lived like a patriarch among his admiring friends. "The sage of Monticello" was the most prominent man in private life in the country. Even to the year of his death he was a great moral force in the land. As the former president, the purchaser of Louisiana, the chastiser of the Barbary pirates, the founder of the University of Virginia, as the scholar, the philosopher and the savant, he was known the world over.

Every day for at least eight months in the year brought its contingent of guests to Monticello. People of wealth, fashion, men of office, professional men, military and civil, lawyers, doctors, Protestant clergy, Catholic priests, members of congress, foreign ministers, missionaries, Indian agents, tourists, artists, strangers, friends. Some came from affection and respect, some from curiosity; some to give or receive advice or instruction, some from idleness, some because others set the example. And everybody who could not visit "the sage of Monticello" at least gave thought to the great retired man of the nation.

Jefferson retained his health nearly to his last days, and had the happiness of living to the fiftieth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. He died at Monticello at 12:40 p. m. on July 4, 1826. He was buried in his own graveyard at Monticello, beneath a stone upon which was engraved an inscription prepared by his own hand: "Here is buried Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, of the Statute of Virginia, for Religious Liberty and Father of the University of Virginia."

"The sage of Monticello" stands today next to "the father of his country" in the esteem of the United States. And this is as it should be, for his wise counsel helped to establish this nation as firmly as did the arms and statesmanship of George Washington.

The LAST FIRECRACKER by WILBUR D. NESBIT

'Tis the last red firecracker
Left lying alone;
All its former companions
Are burst and gone.
Not one of its kindred Nor loved one is nigh
To observe its last sputter
Or hear its last sigh.

It lies on the sidewalk,
But none takes it up—
Little Willie has wandered Downtown with the pup
To inquire of the doctor.
If dogs grow new tails
For a bunch of firecrackers Filled puppy with wails.

Uncle Thomas is resting Upstairs on a cot;
He must lie on his stomach.
His back is so hot;
Poor old grandpa is moaning
In grizzled despair,
For a wayward skyrocket
Took his beard and his hair.

Papa has his head bandaged
In coverings neat,
And a surgeon is fixing
The burns on his feet;
Mamma thinks she'll recover
The use of her arms,
Though the red fire that burned them
Caused eight fire alarms.

'Tis the last red firecracker
Where it was flung down
Ere the mantle of silence
Fell over the town;
There's no one to explode it,
It lies where it fell,
And must wait for ignition
Till some one gets well.

Pannier Gown, Showing Effect Parisian Modistes Intended to Give

The rose maid panier gown made its first appearance on Fifth avenue, New York, during the Easter parade on Sunday, April 7. The dress does not show the extreme panier effect as the Parisian model. It has been christened the Rose Maid in honor of the new comic opera of that name. The gown is made of flowered mull and shadow lace. A chiffon sash is tied around the skirt a la Panier.

NECKWEAR IN LAVISH DISPLAY

Severe Tailormade Effects Are Being Discarded in Favor of General Fluffiness.

What has become of the tailored girl who looked so smart in her manish collar and firm, steady four-in-hand? She and all her ilk seem to have passed out with the advent of the frenzy of fluffiness that has seized the feminine world. The few who have survived the billows of laces and miles of ruffles are marked rarities, and possibly do their own laundering. However, the generosity of neckwear is gradually decreasing and fan frills and Parisian jabots are taking on proportions not only more refined, but undoubtedly more becoming. The small girl with a great white wing securely pinned to her shoulder would be laughable were she not so modest and unassuming in manner.

But the new neckwear will soon rightfully represent her, as well as the too generously built woman who shies at so much ostentation.

Stocks with jabots to match are the fashionable thing in neckwear, and instead of the lavishly fluted varieties, the simple, graduated plait is shown. Hand embroidery and simple thread laces are the favored trimmings, and a bit of color is occasionally introduced by means of ribbon and loops.

WIDE BELT NO LONGER WORN

Fashionable Garniture of the Moment Is Exceedingly Narrow and Smart in Design.

The fashionable belt of the moment is about an inch and a half in width and is made of black patent leather decorated with a buckle to match, or with an antique silver one. A perfectly plain belt has its votaries, but in some cases an introduction is made of tiny white button trimmings, which look very smart indeed when the buttons are clustered at the back in a pyramidal form designed to give grace to the figure. Narrow satin belts are being issued also, and some of the dressmakers introduce by their means a contrast in colors to the rest of the costume, using shades of pink, blue and mauve most dextrously folded into the narrow compass at their command.

Petticoats Again.

The slight increase in the skirt's width admits of the wearing of a petticoat—a change which will be pleasing to the older women. The best petticoats are now made of crepe de Chine rather than silk jersey.

A very good model has the upper part of crepe de Chine, with a shaped lounce of chiffon joined on at the knees and forming a foundation for graduated bias bands of satin. The three materials are in the same shade of violet.—Harper's Bazar.

ONE SIDED REVER

The feature of this simply cut coat for a little girl is, of course, the one sided rever of contrasting material. The revers are really cut to match each other, but the double breasted cut of the coat makes one rever lap far over the other in the one sided effect shown. The coat is built of light fawn colored cosmos mixture and the revers and collar are of moire silk in the same shade, with an outer edge of white satin. The buttons are white pearl. With this coat is worn a straw bonnet trimmed with pink roses and a white bow, and white stockings and buttoned boots.

Sash Curtain.

A most attractive sash curtain may be made of linen, but it must be of rather a sheer quality. Japanese grass cloth or Bohemian line is best to use. If the eyelet embroidery is combined with either flet or Cluny insertion, the effect will be very handsome.

The sides and bottom may have a very narrow edging of the lace, or they may be French hemmed, and the bottom trimmed with a tassel edging.

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

Doctors Could Not Help Mrs. Templeton—Regained Health through Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Hooper, Nebraska.—"I am very glad to tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. For five years I suffered from female troubles so I was scarcely able to do my work. I took doctors' medicines and used local treatments but was not helped. I had such awful bearing down pains and my back was so weak I could hardly walk and could not ride. I often had to sit up nights to sleep and my friends thought I could not live long. At my request my husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I commenced to take it. By the time I had taken the seventh bottle my health had returned and I began doing my washing and was a well woman. At one time for three weeks I did all the work for eighteen boarders with no signs of my old trouble returning. Many have taken your medicine after seeing what it did for me. I would not take $1000 and be where I was. You have my permission to use my name if it will aid anyone."—Mrs. SUSIE TEMPLETON, Hooper, Nebraska.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

First to Utilize Spectacles.
Roger Bacon knew lenses, and that they were useful for near vision in the old. For optical purposes, they appear to have been ground first about 1285 by a certain Salvo degli Armati, said to have died in 1317. A monk of Pisa, Alexander della Spina, who died in 1313, also has been accredited with the invention of spectacles and with the promotion of their use.

Not at All Strange.
A Toledo girl, who goes into trances, can sing and whistle simultaneously while she is in such a condition. Probably she was an office boy in some precious incarnation.

Easy to Get a Start.
The smallest manufacturer in existence could start by using one newspaper in one town, and increase his distribution and sales rapidly and surely.—Printers' Ink.

If You Desire Success.
If you wish success in life, make perseverance your bosom friend, experience your wise counselor, caution your elder brother, and hope your guardian genius.—Addison.

Uncertain Work.
"Wouldn't you like to be a king when you grow up, my son?" "No, pa, I'd rather have a steady job."—Woman's Home Companion.

Pennsylvania Tobacco.
Pennsylvania tobacco fields yield 1,100 pounds to the acre, not the top of the list of the states by any means.

A SANE CELEBRATION

We all read with horror how the people of India, in their religious zeal, threw their children under the wheels of the Car of Juggernaut, and the ancients, for the same reason, placed their babes in the fiery arms of Moloch—but, really, why should we?

Year after year the parents of this enlightened land and age do the same thing, and with no such reward as the benighted heathen expected to obtain—we refer to "The Slaughter of the In-nocents" that occurs with every return of our nation's birthday.

To be sure progress is being made toward a safe and sane celebration, but still the ruthless sacrifices go on, and the fire demon rages in city and village.

Last year there were only eighteen cases of lockjaw resulting from fire works and of these, only ten died. Only forty-seven persons were killed outright by explosions, and twelve little girls were burned to death by fire set from fireworks.

The lot may fall this time on one of your little ones.

But is that all? Do you want more evidence before you decide to adopt a different plan of celebration? Let us visit the hospitals and sorrowing homes of last year. 8 persons totally blinded, 26 with one eye gone, 30 to go through the rest of life with an arm, a leg or a hand missing, and 83 with one or more fingers off. The giant fire cracker has 483 injuries, including 2 deaths and 2 cases of lockjaw to its credit; fire arms 184, eleven of them fatal; 80 persons hit by stray bullets, 6 of whom died. Do you want to be one of them this year?

Magazines and books are filled with suggestions for ways of spending the day that will arouse more real patriotism than any quantity of explosives, and if fireworks and noise are felt to be indispensable as yet, let them be kept in the hands of adults and set off where lives and property are not endangered.

Plant Native Trees on State Highway

Preserve the View

Where the road winds through mountain passes and canons, the close planting of tall trees would obstruct the view. In such places, and wherever a wide view is possible, irregular planting not only contributes to natural beauty as contrasted with artificial, but permits to those driving or riding in automobiles the appreciation of the landscape as a whole, with its broad architectural lines, in which mountains and plains and valleys, coast lines and rivers, wood-lands and barren slopes and rocky ledges, upland shrubs and wayside weeds and grasses, all harmonize; and to which each lends intrinsic charm.

Preserve Wild Plants and Shrubs, as well as Trees

Not only the trees, but the beautiful native shrubs and plants of the hill-country should be preserved, as "Nature holds with narrowing space,
From mart and crowd her old-time grace,
And guards with fondly jealous arms
The wild growths of outlying farms."

Our many native evergreen shrubs blend with brown dry grasses in producing the peculiar depth of soft rich coloring which in summer is a striking feature of our landscape as related to our climate.

Needless quarrying of rocks and bowlders in streams and waysides should be depreciated as turning picturesque features into unsightly gashes and littered waste.

Preserve the Landscape as a Com- posite Whole

We cannot remove or destroy one detail without marring the composition of the landscape and lessening the beauty of the perfect whole.

"All are needed by each one;
Nothing is fair or good alone."

We should therefore endeavor to preserve and enhance those natural features which combine with physical outlines to give characteristic beauty to our State.

A note from any interested person to the State Forester, urging the distinction which such use of California trees along the new highway would give to our landscape, might help toward the desired end.

NO PASSENGER KILLED

In the last three years and ten months no passenger has been killed through collision or derailment on the Southern Pacific, according to the accident statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission, recently made public. During this period the road carried 150,400,000 passengers an average distance of 42 miles. In the last three years and four months but one passenger was killed through derailment or collision on the Union Pacific. There were 27,900,000 passengers carried during that time.

Rail breakage has been reduced to a minimum by the introduction of the standard rail. Steel cars are replacing wooden cars over the entire Harriman System and automatic block signals will soon be in operation over every part of the lines. The inspection of the rails as they are manufactured, originally inaugurated by the Harriman Lines, has had much to do with the making of this safety record, and several other roads in this country have recently started similar inspection methods. There is one way to reduce the fatality record on American railroads and that is to pass laws that will prevent trespassing on the rights of way. Fifty-three per cent. of the people killed on our railroads annually lose their lives because of trespassing. A large majority of those killed are hoboes and others, stealing rides.

The problem of reducing the number of railway accidents requires the co-operation of both the officials of the companies and of the people. It has been one of the real big problems of railroad operating for years and every line in the country looks forward to the time when a death on a railroad because of derailment or collision will be unheard of.

W. H. Hinde returned Tuesday from his visit to Columbus, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Merrill and family went to Santa Cruz today for a few days outing at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Mendel and son who went to England in April on a visit arrived in New York Saturday on their return home and are expected here next week.
